IS GASOLINE REALLY NECESSARY?

DO WE REALLY NEED GASOLINE TO RUN OUR AUTOMOBILES?

THE ANSWER TO THAT QUESTION IS NO!

Back in the 1930's an amateur experimenter discovered a revolutionary new propulsion system, which he obtained a patent for. He called it an "ELECTRIC ROCKET" A Major Oil Co. has been reported to have paid the inventor One Million Dollars for his patent. They then swore him to secrecy, and him calling for the return of all monies paid to him if he told anyone about it. Why, you ask? Because the device this young amateur inventor had created would have, and still can, make gasoline (Fossil Fuel) obsolete. What he invented, would not only provide clean, safe, and efficient propulsion, for vehicles, aircraft, spacecraft, and machinery of all types, it can also be used to run ordinary electrical generators, and collect more energy than is required to keep it running.

NOW you can get the plans for the device, and you can build it yourself, from easily obtainable materials you can get from your local hardware store. It is simple to make, and may power an entire house for centuries. IT IS A SMALL 6 ¼" BY 8" engine, that just might be able to propel vehicles. Just in case our gasoline prices get too high, or our gasoline supply disappears altogether.
